

Because Prevention is Better Than Cure

The Internet is today's Wild West. It's a highly complex environment that's rife with opportunities for less-than-ethical individuals and entities ready to take advantage of innocent explorers. Every new web-based technology that appears will be followed almost immediately by bad guys who've figured out how to exploit that technology to their own ends.

Why you need an extra layer of protection

These bad guys operate in a completely different way than the teenage graffiti artists who were the mainstay of virus-creation for so many years. Today's cybercriminals are running businesses designed to do damage and steal data; they do this by creating websites that deliver malicious software and are typically active for no more than a day before being replaced by a different site. They may also deliver infections through temporary "poisoning" of legitimate websites.

Fear not. AVG Anti-Virus will protect you against these new 'here today, gone tomorrow' threats as well as viruses, spyware, trojans, worms and rootkits. AVG Anti-Virus gives you powerful, easy-to-use protection that works efficiently and unobtrusively in the background, letting you focus on using your computer and not having to worry about security.

AVG Anti-Virus gives you real-time protection against the latest web-borne threats:

- Solid, reliable protection for today's stealthy threats
 - Real-time safe searching and surfing for a trouble-free online experience
 - Download files from the web and exchange files via instant messaging without the risk of malware infection
